NEW DRILLING CONTRACT

REWARD MINERALS LTD CONTRACTS HADDINGTON DRILL RIG

Haddington Drilling Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of Haddington Resources Limited (ASX: HDN) has commenced drilling for Reward Minerals Limited (ASX: RWD) at its Gascoyne Potash Project near Carnarvon in Western Australia.

Haddington has commissioned a new Hydco 1000H rig on the first hole of an initial six hole program at the Yalbalgo – Calagiddy Prospect area on Reward's Gascoyne Potash Project.

Haddington Drilling Services has also entered into a Memorandum of Understanding, with Reward Minerals as a precursor to a Drilling Services Agreement, that provides for Haddington to have a first right of refusal to provide drilling services on all of Reward's potash exploration projects.

The acquisition of the Hydco 1000H is consistent with Haddington's strategy of organic growth for its drilling business on the basis of securing long term contracts.

RWD is exploring for potash deposits which are contained within large buried evaporites up to 1,500 metres below surface. The Hydco 1000H will be employed to drill exploration holes into evaporite basins in search of potash deposits and in the event of a potash discovery will have the opportunity to drill development and production bores.

RWD's current evaporite potash projects are the Gascoyne Project - Carnarvon Basin, W.A., the Officer Project - Officer Basin W.A., the Wilara Project – Canning Basin W.A., the Rodinga Project – Amadeus Basin N.T. and the Adavale Project – Qld.

Haddington is enthusiastic about the prospect of a potash discovery on one or more of Reward's projects and looks forward to working with them to develop a mutually beneficial affiliation which will see Haddington providing additional rigs to work on Reward's projects.
